

#

What We Learned in 2020

Edward D. Duvall
4 Jan 2021

It was a bad year all around, I think we can all agree on that. But we did learn some important things, which are instructive for the future.

1. We learned that it is possible for a government to sweep aside a lot of bureaucratic red tape and get a vaccine for a virus in less than a year; in fact several vaccines were developed. Mr. Trump did an excellent job organizing the various research firms, regulators, and logistics experts to help them speed along the development, testing, approval, and distribution of two vaccines in less than ten months.

2. But we also learned that governments can be pathologically incompetent, as when Governor Andrew "The Malignant" Cuomo of New York required nursing homes to take in patients already positive for the Wuhan virus, thus enabling it to spread to many other elderly people in the nursing homes. This uncaring incompetence led to about 10,000 unnecessary deaths in that state. But not to worry: Cuomo the Malignant got an Emmy award for his press releases. Now he is demonstrating his true malignance by showing, even after six months of planning, that he is unable to get the vaccine into people's arms, once the federal government delivered it to New York. But not to worry: CNN, ABC, CBS, NBC, PBS, and MSNBC all say he is doing a great job.

3. We learned that the bias in the media has reached truly bizarre proportions:

a. It turns out that the Wuhan virus actually came from a Chinese research lab in Wuhan, China, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us.

b. It turns out that masks are not the panacea for reducing the spread of the Wuhan virus, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us.

c. It turns out that the Democratic Party will tell any lie and commit any crime, including fixing elections, in order to gain power, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us.

d. It turns out that Mr. Trump never was under any Russian influence, nor did his 2016 campaign collude in any way with the Russians, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us. Even now those networks maintain the fiction, even as Mr. Mueller, the FBI, and two Congressional committees disproved it.

e. It turns out that Americans are willing to do as instructed once they are convinced of the necessary measures, to restrain the spread of the virus. But we also learned that nearly all of our politicians violated their own dictates, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us. It seems that the public has about had enough of this hypocrisy, and we will see what happens when more detrimental orders are issued.

4. There are other things we learned as well:

a. It turns out that the FBI has joined the IRS as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Democratic Party. They had previously destroyed the evidence against Hillary Clinton in her email scandal; they manufactured evidence against Mr. Trump regarding Russian collusion. The FBI declined to say what they knew about Mr. Biden's corrupt dealings with Ukraine, even when Mr. Trump was being impeached for asking about it.

#

b. It turns out that this level of corruption is not confined to the FBI: the Department of Justice is in on it too. We learned that Mr. John Durham, supposedly investigating the illegal methods used by the FBI to promote the Russian collusion lie, has no intention of seeking legal remedies. He probably found that there was a lot more evidence against the FBI than he thought, so he had to expand his "investigation" ["cover-up squad"] and hire more "prosecutors" ["demolition team"] to destroy all the evidence. It takes a lot of time and manpower to get rid of that much, if you want the job done right.

c. It turns out that Mr. Eric Swalwell, Democratic Congressman from California, had close ties to a known Chinese spy (Christine Fang), and even allowed said spy to insert an intern into Mr. Swalwell's office, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us. Mr. Swalwell once said to Chris Matthews (18 Jan 2019), "I haven't seen a single piece of evidence that he (Mr. Trump) is not" (an agent of the Russians). What goes around comes around. I've not seen a single piece of evidence to suggest that Eric Swalwell is not a full-bird Colonel in the Chinese People's Liberation Army. I've not seen a single piece of evidence that Mr. Swalwell is not a full-time agent for the Chinese Ministry of State Security. If those are not true, I encourage Mr. Swalwell to prove they are not true. But he can't -- he has already told us that all the facts about his relationships with the Chinese are classified.

d. It turns out that Facebook and Twitter also operate as if they were wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Democratic Party, contrary to what CNN, ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, and MSNBC told us. How else would one explain suppression of the story about the incriminating documents on Hunter Biden's laptop? Speaking of which, the FBI has been working overtime to make sure that laptop gets destroyed, along with all the copies of the hard drive contents. Once again, it takes a long time, even for true professionals, to get rid of that much evidence, if you want it done right.